JUST PROOF ICON,

FOR
ROOFING HOUSES SHEETING &c

THE subscribers beg to call the attention of all those interested in roofing, to their GALVANIZED IRON PLATES as by the many advantages they possess over all metallic and other substances hitherto used for this purpose, losses by fire are thereby greatly diminished, and from its being entirely incombustible, the insurance on buildings roofed with it is materially reduced. It is not liable to rust, having been tested every year during this country and in Europe. They are also less subject to expansion and contraction from sudden changes of the atmosphere than common Iron Plate from Zinc &c or any other metal now in use for roofing and consequently form a more perfect and durable roof. It has also been proved by numerous experiments that it is much more difficult to ignite than any other metal, thereby rendering it less liable to accidents from fire communicated by sparks from chimneys &c. Another important feature in favor of this Iron is that it is entirely free from any poisonous matter, and consequently does not render the water unfit for use when collected from roofs covered with it, as is frequently the case when Lead or Copper is used. Another advantage it possesses over all other metals is that it is not liable to be destroyed by the Worm when used for Vessels bottoms, as has been fully proved by actual experiment.

The subscribers would also call the attention of all dealers and workers in metals to the many other purposes, to which Iron thus prepared can be applied. Sugar refiners, as applicable to all articles of cooking which is required to be kept free from the action of the atmosphere. And they would especially call the attention of those interested in TELEGRAPHIC LINES, to their Galvanized Wire which is now almost entirely used in Europe for such purposes for conveyance of electricity, costing only about one half as much as copper and possessing equal conducting properties.

Their factories and works are the only ones in the United States as well as Great Britain which have received European premiums and all legal encouragement will be extended to any establishment by individuals or otherwise

Examination of the Public Schools.

The examination of the public schools of the city will commence this morning and continue during the remainder of the week It is desirable that parents generally should attend these examinations, particularly the primary schools as they most need the encouragement which such visits inspire The time of the several examinations may be learned from the notice of the committee to be found in our advertising columns

There is no interest in our city greater than that of our public schools, nor one which comes home to the business and bosom of the people Upon a high duty which the friends of education and of the welfare of the rising generation owe to these to examine the public schools School Committees in cities with great zeal and devotion, our teachers task themselves to the utmost Plymouth, and so far it is well, but the attention and sympathy of parents and the friends of education are necessary to secure the greatest

Cures of the Lungs—Cause, Prevention and Cure of Consumption, &c.

We have received from the publisher Fowler 307 Broadway New York, a well printed pamphlet of between three and four hundred pages well illustrated with cuts It contains lectures by Samuel Sheldon Fitch, on the diseases of the Lungs and causes, prevention and cure of Consumption, Asthma, and diseases of the throat, on the laws of Longevity, and the means of preserving health

As a work of a popular character, designed for the masses, and so far as we have had an opportunity of examining the work, it gives evidence of much common sense view of the structure, and functions of the human body with the best success in the manner of keeping them in order Of the remedies recommended for the cure of diseases we do not feel competent to decide

The work may be good and may not but of this we see there can be no doubt of their general use We wish people generally understood the matter It is a good work to have in families and we could like to see every family to own a copy

Temperance Supper.

The company of temperance men partook of a supper on Monday evening, at the rooms of Mr C B Merrill, in the house of Kendusheag Market

The partaking of which and generous repast, and volunteer toasts were read, speeches made, a season of sentiment and witty evident satisfaction by all present has established his reputation as a caterer

We have received a kind and heart warm invitation in behalf of the 'Little Navigator' suggested of raising funds is light to us here, and we have therefore reluctantly decided not to publish it, although we feel interest to have the sums collected for so charity sufficient to accomplish the object which it aims Our friend may not be of the entire propriety of our course in publishing his article, but if he were in our position, he would probably come to the same conclusion we have.

On Friday evening our citizens are to be favored with a rich treat in a concert to be given by the juvenile school taught by Mr Lib[illegible] in Market Hall. We have frequently visited this school, and been highly gratified at the progress which the children and youth under his instruction, have made They sing charmingly It is a beautiful school and reflects, in our judgment, great credit upon the skill of its teacher

Proceedings in Congress,

We give in our columns the proceedings of Congress so far as relates to results In order however that our readers may have an idea of how affairs are conducted we give the following report of the proceedings of the House of Representatives on the 15th inst as reported by the correspondent of the New York Herald —

Mr Brinkerhoff presented the resolutions of the Legislature of Ohio, asking Congress to exclude slavery from Oregon and other territory which may hereafter be annexed to the United States

Mr Pendleton, (who was entitled to the floor on the three million bill, and there being less than an hour remaining of the time to which the debate was limited by resolution) moved that the House resolve itself in to a committee of the Whole on the State of the Union

The yeas and nays were called for, and ordered

The Speaker observed that the House could proceed to no other business but the special order, unless by general consent

Mr Hamlin enquired whether it would be in order to move a call of the House

The Speaker replied that there was evidently a large majority present, and that the yeas and nays had been ordered on going into committee

Mr Hamlin observed that it was desirable here should be a full House to vote on the question soon to be presented, and therefore he would ask the yeas and nays on whether the session be a call of the house

The yeas and nays were taken, and a call was demanded

The House then went into Committee—yeas 159, nays 6 on

The Three Million Bill

It now lacked twenty minutes of twelve, when the votes were to be taken on amendments

Mr Pendleton then took the floor, having been shorn of forty minutes of his time He alluded to this fact, which prevented him from making the speech which he intended to address not more a minute of the time of the House had been occupied by him this session and the effort he could not be that an attempt was made to deprive him of an opportunity to present his views, because he had been loquaciously troublesome When he was assigned the floor on Saturday night, there were not twenty gentlemen in the hall, it was true that he was not willing to indulge gentleman in presenting their opinions But members, acting under a contrary impression, had, by calling the yeas and nays, deprived him of his hour In consequence he would not enter into the merits of the question before the committee—and having occupied but four teen minutes, he took his seat, leaving the public to pass judgment on this effort to restrict the freedom of speech, following the recent act of the Senate restricting the freedom of a partizan press, the editor of which is from the same State as himself

Mr Dromgoole—I suppose that the time has come for voting

The Chairman—Not yet

Mr Dromgoole—I will vote for the bill—

Mr Levin—The gentleman has spoken once

Mr Dromgoole—No, I have not

The Chairman, (to Mr Dromgoole—The gentleman will proceed

Mr Dromgoole occupied the remaining time, three or four minutes, saying that he would not vote for the proviso If it should be passed in committee, and brought into the House to be voted on, I would raise a question in order, to show that it is mischievous and uncon stitutional, and will defeat the object of the bill, and he would doubt the sincerity of gentlemen who, while they vote for the proviso, say they are for peace, and throw a firebrand up to the ball As it was now twelve o clock, and the time for voting had come, he would vote an amendment, as a substitute for the bill

Mr Winthrop rose to a question of order, and, in reply to the question,

The Chairman replied, that if the amendment of the gentleman from Virginia should be adopted, no further amendment would be in order

Mr Dromgoole—My proposition is a substitute for the bill

Mr C J Ingersoll enquired what the question was?

The Chairman informed him

Mr Wentworth—I rise to a question of order I ask whether the proviso of Mr Wilmot has been presented to the committee?

The Chairman—It has not

Mr Wentworth—Then I will offer it, if he is not here

There was much confusion in the hall, and few could tell what was going on

Mr Houston, of Alabama, (in a loud tone)—We can't hear on this side of the House, it is impossible for us to hear.

The Chairman—Gentleman will come to order, (and he knocked loudly and earnestly)

Mr Stewart—I wish to add an amendment to the bill—that the three million shall not be paid until the rat fication of a treaty by Mexico and the United States, and I also offer the Wilmot proviso

Mr King, of New York—What is the question?

The Chairman—The amendment of the gentleman from Virginia

Mr King—I rise to a question of order I desire to say—

Mr Stewart,(still standing near the main aisle) Provided that the three millions shall not be used—[Laughter]

Mr King—I rise to a question of order. It is—

Mr Stewart—Will the Clerk take down my amendment? 'Provided—

Mr Hamlin—Mr Chairman—

Mr King—It is not in order

Mr Stewart—My amendment

The Chairman—The gentleman from Pennsylvania will come to order [Knock, knock]

Mr King continued to speak, but what he said was drowned in the tumult

The Chairman stated the question, when

Mr King said—I propose to offer the Wilmot proviso [Not in order, not in order]

Mr Dromgoole—I rise to a question of order [Laughter]

Mr King—I insist that every question now shall be decided by the yeas and nays If the amendment of the gentleman from Virginia is cut off—

Mr Stewart (rolling on the floor)—The Clerk—

Mr King—I will offer the Wilmot proviso, to be acted on in its order

Mr McClernand essayed to speak

The Chairman requested him to take his seat The confusion was at its height—gentlemen were out of their seats, and talking loudly

Mr F B King—I hope that all proceedings will stop until order be restored [Yes, let's have a little quiet in the dead ashes]

Mr King of New York—Mr Chairman—

The Chairman [bang, bang]—Gentlemen will please come to order

Mr Houston—I hope the Chairman will make all set down

After a pause, and something like order being attained—

The Clerk read the proviso of the gentleman from Pennsylvania

Mr Hamlin—I would inquire whether the question is not first on amending the original bill

The Chairman—It is

Mr Hamlin—I then offer this amendment

The Clerk proceeded to read it 'And be it further enacted that there shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude—

Mr Dromgoole—I rise to a question of order [Order, order] The amendment is not in order, it does not decide

Mr Hamlin and Mr McClernand were on the floor at the same time, they both claimed it, as will be seen from the follow —

Mr Hamlin—I have not yielded the floor

Mr McClernand—I have the floor [Order, order, Down, down—

Mr Hamlin—I offered a proviso

Mr Broomgoole—Do de the question

Mr McClernand— shall insist on my motion Great confusion

Mr Hamlin—But I have the floor

The Chairman—Gentlemen will come to order, It is impossible to decide any question of order. [We can't hear What's all this about?]

Mr McClernand—I rose some time since

Mr Hamlin—The Clerk will report the proviso

Mr McClernand—I have the floor The gentleman has no right to submit his proviso

The Chairman stated the question, when

Mr King said—I propose to offer the Wilmot proviso [Not in order, not in order]

Mr Dromgoole—I rise to a question of order [Laughter]

Mr Adams of Mississippi offered an amendment, that Congress will not interfere with the subject of slavery in any territory which may here after be acquired by the Government of the United States

The Chairman also ruled this to be out of order

Callers were ordered

Mr Brinkerhoff—The question is not understood We want the question clearly stated

The Chairman requested him to take his seat The confusion was at its height—gentlemen were out of their seats, and talking loudly

Mr F B King—I hope that all proceedings will stop until order be restored [Yes, let's have a little quiet in the dead ashes]

Mr King of New York—Mr Chairman—

The Chairman [bang, bang]—Gentlemen will please come to order

Mr Houston—I hope the Chairman will make all set down

After a pause, and something like order being attained—

The Clerk read the proviso of the gentleman from Pennsylvania

Mr Hamlin—I would inquire whether the question is not first on amending the original bill

The Chairman—It is

Mr Hamlin—I then offer this amendment

The Clerk proceeded to read it 'And be it further enacted that there shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude—

Mr Hamlin—I have not yielded the floor

Mr McClernand—I have the floor [Order, order, Down, down—

Mr Hamlin—I offered a proviso

Mr Broomgoole—Do de the question

Mr McClernand— shall insist on my motion Great confusion

Mr Hamlin—But I have the floor

The Chairman—Gentlemen will come to order, It is impossible to decide any question of order. [We can't hear What's all this about?]

Mr McClernand—I rose some time since

Mr Hamlin—The Clerk will report the proviso

Mr McClernand—I have the floor The gentleman has no right to submit his proviso

The Chairman—The Chair recognised the gentleman from Maine

Mr McClernand—I was seconded by the Chair (Order order) I rose to a question of order will insist on holding the floor till it shall be decided [That's right]

Mr Hamlin—Mr Chairman—

Mr McClernand—The Chair recognised me There was much confusion in the hall The Chair called the Committee to order After order was restored, the gentleman from Maine was assigned the floor, and I appealed to the good sense of gentlemen to say whether such was not the fact The Chair excluded me from the floor I was entitled to it

The Chairman explained his position The Chair overrules the point The gentleman rises, and the question is, shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the Committee

Mr McClernand—I want to know whether I have a right to be heard No, no, no, no I don't ask an interruption for a reply but I inquire of the Chair (Hush)

The Chairman—The question is shall the decision of the Chair stand as he judgment of the Committee

Mr McClernand—Can I be heard?

The Chairman—The gentleman cannot be heard —I wish to make one suggestion (Yes, yes, we don't want to hear it)

Mr McClernand—If it was not I am not to get justice I shall withdraw the appeal

The Clerk then read the Wilmot proviso

Mr Dromgoole rose to a question of order We have determined to say something

The Chairman—The gentleman from Virginia will state his point

Mr Dromgoole—I understand that my point is not understood It is not the proviso I object to, but it is the subject under consideration, I ask the Clerk to read the twenty fifth rule

The clerk read it, to the effect that no motion or proposition different from the subject under consideration shall be made under color of amendment

The Chairman—The Chair overrules the question of order

Mr Dromgoole—I appeal

Mr Clingman was repeated in different directions by at least a dozen gentlemen

Mr Dromgoole—Will it does the Chair over rule my point of order?

The Chairman—I overrule it

Mr Dromgoole—I take an appeal, and ask that the question be decided by ayes and nays

Mr McClernand—Will the Chair state the question?

The Chairman—It has a e asked for Read the amendment, 'read,' 'read,' 'what is it?' 'what is the question?'

The Chairman—a decision having been made, it is too late to ask for a new count

Mr Winthrop—I propose the amendment in a different form—to insert after the word 'Mexico,' and the United States

Mr Tibbatts—Gentlemen can't go back I make that point.

Mr McClernand— shall insist on my motion Great confusion

Mr Hamlin—But I have the floor

The Chairman—Gentlemen will come to order, It is impossible to decide any question of order. [We can't hear What's all this about?]

Mr McClernand—I rose some time since

Mr Hamlin—The Clerk will report the proviso

Mr McClernand—I have the floor The gentleman has no right to submit his proviso

The Chairman—The Chair recognised the gentleman from Maine

Mr McClernand—I was seconded by the Chair (Order order) I rose to a question of order will insist on holding the floor till it shall be decided [That's right]

Mr Hamlin—Mr Chairman—

Mr McClernand—The Chair recognised me There was much confusion in the hall The Chair called the Committee to order After order was restored, the gentleman from Maine was assigned the floor, and I appealed to the good sense of gentlemen to say whether such was not the fact The Chair excluded me from the floor I was entitled to it

The Chairman explained his position The Chair overrules the point The gentleman rises, and the question is, shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the Committee

Mr McClernand—I want to know whether I have a right to be heard No, no, no, no I don't ask an interruption for a reply but I inquire of the Chair (Hush)

The Chairman—The question is shall the decision of the Chair stand as he judgment of the Committee

Mr McClernand—Can I be heard?

The Chairman—The gentleman cannot be heard —I wish to make one suggestion (Yes, yes, we don't want to hear it)

Mr McClernand—If it was not I am not to get justice I shall withdraw the appeal

The Clerk then read the Wilmot proviso

Mr Dromgoole rose to a question of order We have determined to say something

The Chairman—The gentleman from Virginia will state his point

Mr Dromgoole—I understand that my point is not understood It is not the proviso I object to, but it is the subject under consideration, I ask the Clerk to read the twenty fifth rule

The clerk read it, to the effect that no motion or proposition different from the subject under consideration shall be made under color of amendment

The Chairman—The Chair overrules the question of order

Mr Clingman was repeated in different directions by at least a dozen gentlemen

Mr Dromgoole—Will it does the Chair over rule my point of order?

The Chairman—I overrule it

Mr Dromgoole—I take an appeal, and ask that the question be decided by ayes and nays

Mr McClernand—Will the Chair state the question?

The Chairman—It has a e asked for Read the amendment, 'read,' 'read,' 'what is it?' 'what is the question?'

The Chairman—The chair decides that the Wilmot proviso is in order, from which decision the gentleman from Virginia takes an appeal

The tellers mounted, and, by a vote of 116 to 83, the decision of the Chair was sustained

The Compromise

Amid the confusion, which we are inadequate to describe

Mr Douglass, of Illinois, moved that all after the word 'provided' be stricken out in the amendment and that the following be inserted 'That there shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except for crime, in any territory which may hereafter be acquired under this act, north of the parallel of 36 degrees thirty minutes commonly known as the Missouri compromise line'

Tellers, tellers,' 'we want tellers' and 'order, order,' as due to the excitement

The question was taken, and the amendment was disagreed to—ayes 82, noes 109

The question now occurred on agreeing to the Wilmot proviso

The Clerk was called to order, and said his amendment was to strike

Mr Clingman of North Carolina offered an amendment to the proviso in effect extending the Missouri compromise line due west to the Pacific ocean It was rejected—ayes 81, noes 104.

The Wilmot Proviso

was then agreed to—ayes 112, noes 89 Mr Adams of Massachusetts passed between the tellers, leaning on the arm of Mr King, in the league

The Chairman again endeavored to restore order.

The amendment of Mr Stewart of Pennsylvania, was rejected—ayes 49, noes 90—that the money shall not be paid until the treaty shall be ratified by the United States as well as by Mexico

A new count was asked for

Mr Dromgoole—No, no, we are satisfied [New count, new count—too late—can't have it]

The Chairman—a decision having been made, it is too late to ask for a new count

Mr Winthrop—I propose the amendment in a different form—to insert after the word 'Mexico,' and the United States

Mr Tibbatts—Gentlemen can't go back I make that point.

The Chairman—The Chair rules it is in order

Mr Tibbatts pressed his point, the amendment was again read and then rejected—ayes 86, noes 94

Mr Bradhead moved that the Committee rise and report the bill

The Wilmot Proviso Again

Mr Ashmun—I understand that the motion of the gentleman from Virginia is now in order—to strike out the whole bill and insert what he proposes

The Chairman—Yes

Mr Ashmun—If it prevails, can it be amended?

The Chairman—It may

Mr Ashmun—Then I move to amend the amendment of the gentleman from Virginia, by adding the Wilmot proviso. [That's right,' 'go it,' 'read, read']

Mr Dromgoole—I rise to a question of order, can Wilmot's rum again be attached to my substitute?

[Here there was an interruption] The committee informally rose, and several messages were announced from the Senate

Mr White, of New York, moved an amendment 'that the Government of the United States do not ask or declare the dismemberment of Mexico'

The Chairman declared out of order

Mr Adams of Mississippi offered an amendment, that Congress will not interfere with the subject of slavery in any territory which may hereafter be acquired by the Government of the United States

The Chairman also ruled this to be out of order

Callers were ordered

Mr Brinkerhoff—The question is not understood We want the question clearly stated

The Chairman requested him to take his seat The confusion was at its height—gentlemen were out of their seats, and talking loudly

Mr F B King—I hope that all proceedings will stop until order be restored [Yes, let's have a little quiet in the dead ashes]

Mr King of New York—Mr Chairman—

The Chairman [bang, bang]—Gentlemen will please come to order

Mr Houston—I hope the Chairman will make all set down

After a pause, and something like order being attained—

The Clerk read the proviso of the gentleman from Pennsylvania

Mr Hamlin—I would inquire whether the question is not first on amending the original bill

The Chairman—It is

Mr Hamlin—I then offer this amendment

The Clerk proceeded to read it 'And be it further enacted that there shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude—

Mr Dromgoole—I rise to a question of order [Order, order] The amendment is not in order, it does not decide

Mr Hamlin and Mr McClernand were on the floor at the same time, they both claimed it, as will be seen from the follow —

Mr Hamlin—I have not yielded the floor

Mr McClernand—I have the floor [Order, order, Down, down—

Mr Hamlin—I offered a proviso

Mr Broomgoole—Do de the question

Mr McClernand— shall insist on my motion Great confusion

Mr Hamlin—But I have the floor

The Chairman—Gentlemen will come to order, It is impossible to decide any question of order. [We can't hear What's all this about?]

Mr McClernand—I rose some time since

Mr Hamlin—The Clerk will report the proviso

Mr McClernand—I have the floor The gentleman has no right to submit his proviso

The Chairman—The Chair recognised the gentleman from Maine

Mr McClernand—I was seconded by the Chair (Order order) I rose to a question of order will insist on holding the floor till it shall be decided [That's right]

BY THE LAST MAIL.

Arrival of the Cambria,

Fourteen days later from Europe.

The Cambria arrived at Boston on Saturday last.

There has been a retrograde movement in the Flour and Grain markets both in England and France. A large sale of Flour at Liverpool at 40s, but the choice brands brought 41s. Indian Corn declined 1s to 2s per quarter. The large quantities of flour and corn released from bond, produced the depression in prices.

The Bank of England had raised the rate of discount to 4 per cent, which caused a great depression in the Money market.

The Cambria has brought out nearly Two Millions of dollars, chiefly in silver.

Capt Rathbun of the New York packet ship Columbia, his officers, five seamen and a boy, were washed overboard in a gale on the 13th inst.

The political news is not important. The state of affairs throughout Europe is somewhat gloomy, and the prospects of the future not promising. The principal evils are the results of a bad harvest, throughout the north-western parts of Europe, and the reaction of too great prosperity in former years. These evils are most grievously felt in Ireland, and in all parts of the United Kingdom—France and Belgium, they are apparently exaggerated, in regard to the extent in all these countries, though there is no doubt that the sufferings of the poor are severe in all of them.

The state of the grain and cotton markets became an object not merely of mercantile but of universal interest, we give here a summary of the movements on these points. Previous to the news by the last arrival, the market for wheat flour had reached its maximum. Jan. 15, New York Western flour, in bond, had been sold at 43 per barrel, and the best American at 41s 2d to 41s 6d. per 196 lbs From that date, in consequence of the rumored intention of Ministers to propose a repeal of the existing duties, with the subsequent confirmation of that rumor, and the actual repeal of all duties on grain, flour, meal and potatoes, until the 1st of Sept. next, with a modification of the navigation laws, so that these articles may be produced by vessels of all nations from any port of the world, prices of flour and wheat have gradually declined.

We learn on the authority of Capt. Judkins, that on the 5th, a large number of vessels with bread stuffs had arrived at Liverpool, and that on the 6th the price of flour that day a dollar a barrel.

The prospects of trade in general in the kingdom are somewhat depressed.

The most important intelligence by this arrival is the development of the Ministerial System—measures for the relief of the people of Ireland. This includes the temporary relief to be given by the immediate pressure of famine, and measures for the permanent relief of the population. The system proposed is far from giving general satisfaction.

The following brief summary is taken from the London Weekly Times:

The extent and substance of the immediate measures for the formation of Relief Committees in the several districts of Ireland, who are empowered to receive subscriptions, grants, and receive donations from the Government by means of which they shall purchase food, establish soup kitchens, and distribute it to the destitute, without the indispensable condition of labor. It is proposed that one half of the money expended upon the public works shall be furnished by the nation, the other by the landlords of Ireland, to be repaid in a period of not more than twenty-two years, in terms of the provisions of the Drainage Act, passed last session. The Government also proposes to advance £50,000 to the landlords, in order to furnish tenants with the means of purchasing seed, the amount to be repaid by the end of 1848.

Accounts from Ireland are still very distressing. The deaths by starvation in Mayo, Skibbereen, Cork, Thurles, &c., are numerous, and are generally prevalent. There is, however, some hope of improvement.

Throughout Germany great distress exists, and bread are very dear. The government do all they can, but they cannot prevent suffering.

From Mexico and Yucatan.

Washington, Feb 20.

New Orleans papers to the 13th inst. with news from Mexico and Yucatan.

Commissioners of Campeachy were represented to be at the capitals of Merida, and had summoned a Congress, which summons was not complied with. It appears to have taken place, but the proceedings are indistinctly given.

Gen. Scott had reached the city of Mexico on the 7th, after a skirmish with three companies of U. S. Dragoons and Mexican Rancheros. A cording to the account 20 Americans were killed and 11 wounded.

There is nothing more than another version of the affair at the Puente Nacional, or Molino del Rey (Miller's dragoons).

The Wilmot Proviso.

The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia North American says:

"There is given chance that the anti-slavery agitation in the Senate, improbable as it here-tofore appeared. The sentiment of the Free States is strong to be resisted by the mere power of party, and it is too universal to be arrested by the whip.

There was a heavy snow storm in Boston on the 19th.

We are indebted to Mr Butler, the chief clerk of the Post Office, for the loan of a for-

CONGRESS.

Washington, Feb 20, 1847.

In the House, the Ten Regiment bill was taken up, and the amendments authorizing the appointment of two additional Paymaster Generals, six First Lieutenants of Artillery, &c. were adopted. It is provided that the Paymasters are to serve only to the end of the war. After some consideration of the bill was laid over.

The Million Bill was then taken up.

Mr Thompson, chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs, gave notice that he should call up, to-morrow, a series of resolutions from the Committee, in favor of the prosecution of the war, and tendering thanks to President Polk.

The bill providing for the sale of mineral lands in Michigan to the United States was passed.

The bill to make Bangor a port of entry was passed.

The bill to make Harbor Bar Island was passed.

DR. DAVIS'S COMPOUND SYRUP OF

WILD CHERRY and TAR,

Pulmonary Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Influenza, Bronchitis, Pleurisy, Difficulty of Breathing, Pains in the Breast or Side, Spitting of Blood, Croup, Hooping-cough, Palpitation of the Heart, Nervous Tremours, &c

☞ In introducing this medicine to the public we deem it proper to state, for the information of those at a distance, that it is the preparation of a regular graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, a physician of twenty years' practice. To show the standing of Dr Davis, and the character of his medicine, we offer the following editorial notices from newspapers of Philadelphia:—

From the American Sentinel, Dec. 16, 1845.

In our advertising columns will be found a notice of Dr Davis's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar. In Dr W. we recognize a respectable physician of this city, and we have had placed before us, and shall publish, from respectable testimonials the most satisfactory evidence of the extraordinary virtues of his medicine.

From the Spirit of the Times, Dec 15, 1845.

We ask attention to the advertisements of Dr Davis's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar. Dr D. is a respectable physician of this city, of many years' practice, and his medicine is supported by most ample and satisfactory testimonials. Among the certifiers we observe the names of a number of well known and respectable citizens.

From the Christian Repository, Dec 3, 1845.

We insert in another column an advertisement of Messrs. Robinson & Collord of this city to which we take pleasure in calling the attention of our readers. We do this more especially from the fact of Bro. Barnes which is appended to it. Bro. B. is a member of the M. E. Church in good standing, and those who know him personally (as we do) have the fullest confidence in any statement he may give of the efficacy of any medicine which he may have tested.

From the Phila. Daily Keystone, Nov 19, 1845.

A Valuable Medicine.—On Monday we will commence publishing a series of testimonials in favor of a new and popular medicine for pulmonary diseases—Dr Davis's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar. We are happy to say that we are personally acquainted with that respectable physician, as well as with a number of the certifiers, who are gentlemen of respectability, and every confidence may be placed in their statements. It strikes us that a medicine under such auspices is entitled to the attention of the afflicted.

From the Natick Eagle, Dec 1, 1845.

We refer our readers to our advertising columns for a notice of Dr Davis's Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar, for affections of the lungs, a most desideratum at the present juncture, which Dr Barnes has so suddenly laid his rough hand upon, scattering coughs and colds about our land. Other certificates will be continued from day to day. We may add that we are acquainted with Dr Davis and also with a number of the persons who testify to the good effects of the medicine, and can vouch for their respectability and its great timeliness.

The above medicine may be procured of Messrs. Brown, Chapin & Whittier, Nos. 13 and 6 Commercial street Boston and also of Messrs. Hall & YOUNG, No. 4 Smith's Block, Bangor Agents for this section of the State.

Bank note engravers of Philadelphia. Four dies of different patterns form the body of the work, and in the centre is a portrait of the late Wm. Swaim, separated from the borders by two circles of lathe work. The words "Swaim's Panacea," are engraved conspicuously on two turned strips, and a large semi circular die forms the uppermost region. The borders are composed of plain lathe work, fine, outside of which is engraved in small letters the entry of the only right.

COUGH. The harsh, dry, hollow cough [illegible] old people, and [illegible] has happily affected by the Hungarian

USE ON THE LUNGS! The [illegible] Balsam is the only popular remedy [illegible] power to dissolve, remove, and cure [illegible] the Lungs. Incredible as this [illegible] is asserted we have the most abundant [illegible] the evidence to sustain the assertion [illegible] its direct and immediate effect in [illegible] where there is [illegible] a natural organic defect [illegible] to commit up the [illegible] in the [illegible] of its [illegible] care in the worst form of the disease, [illegible] (as he does every day,) [illegible] and invalid who [illegible] PROPRIETARILY by the most eminent [illegible] than by persons afflicted with [illegible] form of disease—in order [illegible] it [illegible] be more popular. He boldly declares [illegible] it will cure Tuberculous Disease and [illegible] ulcers, entail in the 3rd or 4th stages [illegible] FORATION. Free Expectoration [illegible] an important object to be attained in all [illegible] the diseases of the Chest and Lungs, [illegible] which is so distressing, is simply the [illegible] to expectorate, and as long as [illegible] exists in the air passages it will continue [illegible] state the membranes and promote [illegible] ughing is an attempt to throw off this [illegible] expectoration gives great relief. Indeed [illegible] expectoration in the latter stages of Consumption [illegible] the cause of death.

Buchan Balsam is a great Expectorant — [illegible] the morbid and diseased matter in the [illegible] ge changes it from a thick, gluttinous sub[illegible] a thin harmless fluid and throws it off [illegible] greatest possible ease and comfort to the [illegible] There is no better medicine in the world, [illegible] tobacco should be considered [illegible]

SOOTHING ANODYNE. Simple or Spirituous [illegible] has no better remedy than the [illegible] Balsam. The pectoral and [illegible] which resists almost every thing [illegible] of the all powerful influence of this great [illegible] as readily as any other form of Pectoral [illegible]

CONSUMPTION. Consumption has been [illegible] graphically described as Shrinking of one's self. [illegible] the Hungarian Balsam by its [illegible] drawing, wasting, softening and animating [illegible] produces, not shrinking but expansion.

Before its delightful influence, all chills, fever [illegible] night sweats, costiveness, blueness of the [illegible] a [illegible] flushed skin, all uncertain strength, emaciation [illegible] and decline—its opposite, like the poisonous [illegible] of night before the glorious morning sun. This is a [illegible] decision, but demonstrable fact, sustained by [illegible] testible proof from all parts of the country.

BE WISE TO DAY by using any [illegible] Consumptive tendency, [illegible] emphatically Death [illegible] der all ordinary treatment. The Hungarian [illegible] sam is a great ANTIDOTE, as well as CURATIVE. If you have any symptoms above described, be advised in time.

THOMPSON'S COMPOUND SYRUP OF TAR AND WILD CHERRY BARK,

FOR THE

CURE OF PULMONARY CONSUMPTION

Coughs, Spitting Blood, Bronchitis, Asthma, Pain in the Breast, Hoarseness, Loss of Voice, Weakness of the Lungs, and all

Complaints of the Throat and Lungs!

It is no [illegible] practice to notice the various [illegible] nostrums of the day; but in the present [illegible] we are induced to deviate from our ordinary rule from the confidence we have in the medicine and the truth of the statements in relation to it. It would be worse than useless for us to give our opinion of the merits of this preparation, when such conclusive testimony of so much more weight, for the manner in which an article is received and stands in the place where it originates, we see from it, use, the public can judge of its value, how much to do in honor its character as a remedial agent — This SYRUP is used and recommended by members of the Faculty of the Medical College in Philadelphia.

Such testimony is alone sufficient to entitle it to public confidence. Again, the low price at which [illegible] places it within the reach of every one — [illegible] estimation this a trifle possesses superior [illegible] to any other medicine without our knowledge [illegible] these forms of disease.

Prepared only by ASCHEY & DICKSON — (successors of S P Thompson) — at the N E corner of Fifth and Spruce streets, Philadelphia.

Price 50 cents 6 bottles for $2,50

☞ CAUTION — Beware of all pretended imitations of this excellent medicine, and purchase no medicine which purports to contain Tar and Wild Cherry, as all these spring up since the introduction of the genuine. Thompson's Compound Syrup of Tar and Wild Cherry, which is the only preparation ever offered to the public containing the active principle of Tar and Nap ha in a concentrated state. The efficacy of all various Tar nostrums, is completely overthrown by this combination.
